

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The lighting up of a fluid or substance within a container by use of an efficient lighting source such as an LED, small lamp, etc. for the purpose or marketing, sales, etc. The invention is to enhance the marketability of a product by making it "stand out" optically from similar products found within the same area of "point of sale".